

From: Jason Tanner
Chief Executive Officer
Applied Frameworks
North Carolina, USA

16 August 2023

Subject: Letter of Recommendation

Dear Sir/Ma'am,

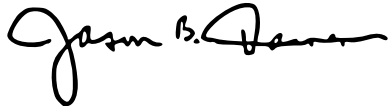

I am writing this letter to recommend Mr. Arsh Bansal for admission to your prestigious institution. Arsh joined us as an intern on 17 July 2023 and worked with us for a period of three weeks. Throughout his internship, Arsh exhibited impressive levels of independence, initiative, and creativity.

Arsh was tasked with the job of creating an AI model which customized the responses from ChatGPT to align with our organization's knowledge base. Although he had little previous practical experience with and exposure to AI modeling, he independently conducted the requisite research, implemented two separate prototypes of content embedding, and finished the project by creating a live website to enable business stakeholders to test his working prototype themselves. His final presentation far exceeded our expectations of a high school student. He presented with confidence balanced with humility through highly effective communication and organizational skill.

Arsh has undoubtedly demonstrated excellent responsibility, diligence, and dependability. His research skills, dedication, and sincerity allowed him to take a short, experiential internship and deliver a project that was truly valuable to our company. Since completing his project, we have decided to fund a project to integrate the technology he prototyped into our customer facing product.

Arsh is very enthusiastic, ready to learn, and tackle new challenges. His positive attitude and confidence will be instrumental to his future success. I highly recommend him and I am sure that he would be a tremendous addition to your institution.

Yours Sincerely,

Jason Tanner
Chief Executive Officer
Applied Frameworks